Dear Laszlo,

I wanted to send a formal thank you to you personally for your incredible Barihab platform table. It has been a godsend for both our patients and our staff. For our patient's learning to stand and walk again it has provided both safety and confidence that they previously did not have. The stability provided through your unique technology eliminates the fear and anxiety that often accompanies bariatric recovery. As you know this speeds recovery, increases positive outcomes, and most importantly gets patients walking in half the time. The other beneficiary of this great product is the therapy staff. Heavy multiple therapists lifting have been virtually eliminated. Your product has greatly reduced the risk of lift injuries to our therapists and allowed for even our smallest therapist to handle heavy or large patients. Economically, the Barihab pays for itself with higher safety for the patient and staff, the elimination of anxiety for the patient, and increased productivity for the therapy staff. We no longer need three or more therapist to help physically lift our bariatric patients. Additionally, the electronic read out features allow the therapist to more accurately document the patients progress and more effectively communicate with the physicians and families regarding patient progress. So thank you again for your innovative product and we await your next discovery.

Sincerely,

Alec Wenzel, NHA
